Press Release

DeciZium's New Website: Decision Support and Sightseeing Tours.

Mons (Belgium), June 30th, 2005 - The new website of decizium – a spin-off company from Mons Polytechnic Faculty (FPMs), in the field of decision support – is now online at www.decizium.com, in English, French, Dutch and German.

Generally speaking, this site presents the services that are offered by decizium, around three areas:

- Systems & Software: development of decision support systems and software for planning delivery rounds, managing production, scheduling activities, etc.
- Studies & Analyses: conduct of market research, statistical processing of survey results, exploitation of large-scale databases, etc.
- Consultancy & Training: participation in the development of complex algorithms, organization of seminars in data analysis, data mining training, etc.

DeciZium's website also describes the innovative computer system which is marketed by the spin-off, in the ambit of the "Your Tour" project, for support in planning trips and sightseeing tours (smart dynamic packaging). This project is supported by the Mathematics and Operations Research Department of FPMs and decizium holds an exclusive license on its results.

The "Your Tour" system is a sort of "personal tour operator". It uses an advanced mathematical algorithm in an interactive, multi-criteria way to automatically generate complete, fully customized travel packages, in accordance with the tourist's preferences, wishes and constraints. This computer application is aimed at travel industry professionals (hotel chains, tour operators, tourist offices, etc.). It will enable them to easily and quickly plan tailor-made travel packages (transportation, lodging, and attractions) for their customers. This system can also be made available directly to tourists, for example through the Internet.
